Prior to the walk, Bill Bell, vice president of Human Resources and Administration, gave remarks. "Thank you for coming out today and showing your personal commitment to your own health," he said.

All walking participants were provided water and a granola bar.

"Walking is of one the simplest and most convenient exercises anyone can do and the water and snacks provided illustrated how simple nutrition helps fuel exercise," said Gabrielle Willis, HealthWaves registered dietitian. "National Walking Day was great because it got people outside of their offices and moving in a fun, relaxed, and friendly atmosphere. Events like this show that exercise can be fun, enjoyable, and effective without being too difficult or costing too much time or money."

NNS and HII to Host Family Health Center Information Sessions

NNS and HII will host information sessions to discuss the services the new Family Health Center will offer, the patient experience and provide an opportunity for questions. When the center opens in the fourth quarter of 2015, it will offer primary care, radiology, non-occupational physical therapy, pharmacy and lab services as well as health and wellness counseling to non-represented NNS employees and dependents who are covered by Anthem's PPO or CDHP plan for $15 per patient, per visit. The Union has indicated they want to be included in having access to the healthcare facility and we have started the necessary discussions.

At 9:15 a.m. on Friday, April 10, Newport News Shipbuilding will sound its whistle to observe a moment of silence in memory of the tragic sinking of USS Thresher and the lives that were lost during the ship's post-overhaul trials. In addition, NNS and HII flags will be flown at half mast.

Meet Ford's Value Stream Delivery Team

Gerald R. Ford's (CVN 78) Value Stream Delivery Team (VSDT) was implemented in February 2015 with the goal of decreasing the number of unworkable work packages and to resolve issues that are preventing shipboard work from being completed in accordance with construction schedules and compartment turnover schedules.

"Team members are subject matter experts selected from the different value stream organizations in order to provide the highest level of support to the trades," said X89 Production, Planning and Scheduling Manager Te Lockett. "Areas represented by the VSDT point-of-contacts include Engineering, Planning, Production Control, Material and Shops. All team members have been relocated to Pier 2 for easy access to the trades."

Since implementation, the team has improved the Drawing Cancellation Notice hand-off process between Engineering and Planning, which reduces the amount of time work packages remain in unworkable status. The team is also working on a training for Engineering that will aid in optimizing material sources and alternatives prior to inspection report (eIR) issuance.

"This training will reduce the number of work packages that are unworkable due to unavailable material, which is the root cause for the majority of unworkable packages," said Adrienne Soulé, X89 production planning and scheduler. "CVN 78 general foremen and production foremen are encouraged to contact VSDT Lead Tom Doberneck at 688-1878 when assistance is needed to resolve unworkable package issues."

Perkinson Recognized as STEP Ahead Award Honoree

Mary Perkinson, Engineering supervisor, was one of the 130 women honored at the 2015 STEP Ahead Awards on March 26. The STEP Ahead Award is presented annually by The Manufacturing Institute to women who have accomplished success within their company and have proven to be leaders in the industry.

At Newport News Shipbuilding, Perkinson oversees new crane installations and overhaul projects for the 600 plus cranes that dot the Newport News skyline.

In the shipyard and in the classroom, Perkinson encourages women and girls to find role models in engineering and manufacturing—and she does this through her efforts with the Society of Women Engineers (SWE). With SWE's new initiative that helps teenage girls get into engineering, Perkinson is sharing her experience with the next generation of female leaders in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM).

This year, Perkinson was one of the three awardees selected to be featured in the 2015 STEP Ahead Award video on Yardnet.

Remembering USS Thresher

When the shipyard whistle is sounded, employees are asked to observe a moment of silence and to remember the 129 officers, crew and civilians who were aboard, and died that day in service to the United States.

An investigation concluded the loss of Thresher was in all probability due to a casting, piping or welding failure that flooded the engine room with water, causing electrical and power failures and the eventual loss of the boat.

Although Thresher was not an NNS-built ship, it is an opportunity to think about the consequences of a mistake and discuss the importance of first-time quality of all NNS products and processes.

X31 Electricians Recognized for Excellence

Twenty X31 electricians were recognized on March 31 during the first annual Director's Excellence Awards.

"I wanted to establish an annual award for the department's top, consistent performers – the employees that operate with the highest integrity," said X31 Trade Director David Batdorf. "By establishing these awards, the Electrical Department will have a way to recognize the 'best-of-the-best' electricians each year."

Awardees were selected by their foremen, general foreman and lead general foreman and then selected by a review board consisting of various members of the X31 management team. The candidates were measured across a broad spectrum of categories including attendance, safety, quality, productivity, organization, engagement and community service.

After lunch, the ceremony commenced with Batdorf reading each of the awardees' nominations submitted by their leadership team. The electricians recognized was presented with a plaque and NNS dress shirt with "Director's Excellence Award 2014" inscribed above the left breast pocket.

WiSE Hosts Women's History Month Event

More than 100 shipbuilders attended the Women's History Month event, hosted by Women in Shipbuilding Enterprise (WiSE) March 26.

During the event, 24 female Master Shipbuilders were recognized along with eight WiSE Woman award recipients.

Mike Petters, Huntington Ingalls Industries' president and CEO, was the guest speaker and discussed the influence of women in his life and encouraged today's "trailblazers" to continue leading the way.

To thank Petters for his support, WiSE members will be volunteering at The Achievable Dream Tennis Ball on Nov. 16, 2015. Petters thanked members for volunteering their time.
