Proteus Makes Big Impression at Sea-Air-Space

The annual Navy League Sea-Air-Space exposition is the largest maritime exposition in the U.S., drawing thousands of attendees from the defense industry, private sector and military leadership. This year's big hit - according to Defense News - was a small submersible named Proteus, which was on display at the Huntington Ingalls booth.

The dual mode underwater vehicle traveled on a semi-trailer truck from Florida to Washington D.C. for the expo, and was displayed near scale models of Gerald R. Ford (CVN 78) and John Warner (SSN 785). Ross Lindman is senior vice president at Undersea Solutions Group (USG), which was recently acquired by Huntington Ingalls and now reports to NNS' Submarine and Fleet Support Division.

"We're here to bring it out as an asset for the Navy, under lease as a test platform," Lindman told Defense News. "It has a very large payload, lots of range, and provides near-term capability to answer urgent needs."

NNS Constructs and Installs New Flood Gates for the Virginia Living Museum

During a brief ceremony on March 13, Newport News Shipbuilding dedicated three new flood gates to the Virginia Living Museum (VLM).

VLM Deputy Director Fred Farris said that the museum approached NNS to design and fabricate a new system of flood gates that could be easily closed by one staff person after the museum was flooded twice during the summer of 2012.

NNS began work on the project in September 2013.

"The old gates were very heavy panels," said Farris. "Several staff members had to carry each gate over to the door and slide them into a groove in the concrete. The gates were not designed for daily use but rather to be positioned in advance of a predicted storm. We were lucky on the day of the big flood - an employee woke up, noticed how heavy the rain was falling, came to the museum and got other staff to help him position the three flood gates. The lake rose so high and so fast, with 8" of rain in three hours that water rose over the gates and flooded the entire lower level. Had those gates not been in position we would have had 3-feet of water in the lower level instead of 6-inches."

Farris added, "The new gates are heavy but mounted on wheels and stay positioned adjacent to the back exits at all times. To close them, one staff person can unlatch the gate, easily roll it into position and crank it down into a water sealing gasket material."

The design team was led by Design Engineering Manager Dave Orie and included E81 Engineering Managers Gene Bowman and Mary McDermott and E81 Engineers Newton Claiborne, Shane Gardner, Willie McBee.

To assist with fabrication and installation, X10 Superintendent Jim Cochran and General Foreman Rusty Johnson were brought onto the team.

E88 Production Planner Bonnie Babb was brought onto the team to assist with procurement of materials and the following employees assisted with manufacturing...

Area Students Explore STEM Careers at NNS During Spring Break

Career Pathways hosted 22 high school students from Newport News Public Schools, Hampton City Schools, Gloucester Public Schools, New Kent County Public Schools and Southampton County Public Schools, as part of their Spring Break “Make It Work” Program April 7-9.

The students spent 15 hours over three days exploring different STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) careers at Newport News Shipbuilding.

Mentors from Engineering and Information Technology departments escorted the students through their respective departments and other areas of the shipyard to give the students a hands-on experience of what it’s like to work at NNS.

Brad Wysong from Hampton City Schools rode three Hampton Road Transit (HRT) buses each day to participate.

“This was a great learning opportunity that I did not want to pass up and it has opened my eyes to many things I was not aware of at the shipyard,” he said.

Ephaulin Leeks (E25) said, “Representing NNS to the youth of our community by showing the many STEM opportunities here with the collaboration of colleagues that contribute to our mission was an honor. I think I learned just as much from the students as they did from me.”

Visit the Career Pathways Yardnet website for additional information on the program or contact Gordon Sproat (O44) at 688-3176.

Sen. James M. Inhofe Vists NNS

On April 17, Huntington Ingalls Industries hosted Sen. James M. Inhofe (R-Okla.), for a tour of the company’s Newport News Shipbuilding division.

The senator, a military veteran, also met over breakfast with sailors from Oklahoma serving aboard the aircraft carriers USS Abraham Lincoln (CVN 72) and Gerald R. Ford (CVN 78). Ford is under construction at Newport News and scheduled for delivery to the U.S. Navy in 2016. Lincoln is undergoing a refueling and complex overhaul (RCOH) at the shipyard until 2016.

NNS President Matt Mulherin led the tour, which included a visit to one of the shipyard’s aircraft carrier construction facilities, a demonstration of the virtual design tool being used to design Ford-class aircraft carriers and a tour of Ford. Inhofe was also updated on Lincoln’s RCOH progress and the success of lessons learned on CVN 78 that are being implemented in the construction of the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy (CVN 79).

The senator said he was impressed with the professionalism, skill level and dedication of the workforce at the shipyard.

“I came here to see the work on CVN 78, CVN 79 and the Abe Lincoln so as we deal with shipbuilding issues in the NDAA I am better informed,” Inhofe said. “I have learned a lot, and I am most impressed with the cost-saving innovations that will directly benefit the taxpayer. Good job, Newport News.”

Security Message: Mulch Fires

Mulch is typically used for landscaping around plants, shrubs and trees. There has been a significant increase in the number of fires that occur in landscaping mulch due to cigarettes. Thousands of mulch fires occur throughout the year, but primarily in the warm summer months. Factors such as warmer temperatures, strong winds and extremely dry conditions due to below average rainfall allow for easy ignition of dry landscaping materials and vegetation.

As a result of today’s laws and policies, many public facilities no longer allow smoking inside the facility, leading to an increased number of mulch fires due to the creation of smoking areas outside. Smokers often discard smoking material, including matches, into the landscaped areas as they enter the building. What starts as a small mulch fire can quickly spread, and if not extinguished quickly, can lead to significant property loss and business interruption. Remember using fireproof receptacles in smoking areas and the proper use of these receptacles will help eliminate mulch fires ignited by smoldering cigarettes or cigars.

HOLA Hosts Professional Development Event

Hispanic Outreach Leadership Alliance (HOLA) hosted a professional development event on employee engagement April 9. Bill McHenry, Organizational Development manager, shared what he has learned over the past two years about engagement and its impact on business.

“Engagement starts with constructive team conversations about what is possible, what’s going right, and how barriers to success can be overcome or addressed,” he said. “Ultimately, resulting in better team performance on every commitment we make.”

Jon Banks (E73) attended the event. “The session afforded me the opportunity to network with a highly-engaged management team, learn creative ways to enhance my productivity in everyday assignments, and how to communicate more effectively with others both on the deck plate and in the office to reach common goals,” he said.

Margarita Doreste (051) said, “By breaking down some of the 12 Gallup questions and elaborating on how they came about, Bill’s presentation shed valuable light into their validity to measure employee engagement and its relationship to performance. A very entertaining and engaging presenter, Bill’s understanding of leadership and engagement are evident.”

Visit the HOLA Yardnet website to learn more about HOLA and to find out how you can get involved.

“This project certainly was a reminder that designing, engineering and building ships, and designing, engineering and building flood mitigation systems, are completely different,” said Orié. “But we had some really good folks working on this project and it was a learning experience for everyone.”

USG built the craft in 2012 at its Panama City, Florida facility in partnership with Battelle and Bluefin Robotics, who developed the craft’s navigational and software systems. After more than 100 test missions and 400 logged hours underwater, Lindman said, “It’s ready to go now.”

Lindman also revealed to Defense News that Proteus has been evaluated by a number of Navy entities, including the Naval Research Laboratory, the Naval Surface Warfare Center in Panama City, the Naval Special Warfare Command in Coronado, California, and the Space and Warfare Systems Command. There is even interest in attracting international customers. “A number of NATO nations have similar requirements,” Lindman observed. “We hope to sell some.”

2015 Performance Management and Engagement Survey Results

The Human Resources and Administration Division would like to thank salaried employees for participating in the 2015 Performance Management and Engagement Survey that was conducted mid-March. The results are used to assess the effectiveness of our performance management and engagement processes. Overall, the survey received a 71.3 percent participation rate, resulting in 7,945 responses. The following is a summary of survey results:

- 69.2 percent of employees reported the Performance Agreement and Review Process helps them in performing their job.
- Employees reporting progress on Engagement Action Plans improved 2.2 to 67.9 percent.
- 91.6 percent of respondents say their management team helps them improve safety performance.
- 85.5 percent of respondents would recommend their boss to a friend as a great person to work for.

Overall, evidence suggests Newport News Shipbuilding is making progress with safety, engagement, and performance management.

ISO Audits Planned for Next Week: April 27-29

Newport News Shipbuilding will undergo a surveillance audit of its Environmental Management System (EMS) and its Quality Management System (QMS) April 27-29. The American Bureau of Shipbuilding Quality Evaluations (ABS-OE) will conduct the surveillance audit. This audit will continue as an "integrated" approach in evaluating key areas of these two management systems. This means that personnel involved with discussions with the auditors will likely be questioned on both quality and environmental aspects of their work.

EMS Audit: Selected parts of the ISO standard 14001 will be audited.

Employees may be stopped by auditors and interviewed about general awareness of the company's environmental policy or how their job could affect the environment. Employees can refer to their green ISO 14001 badge cards or the O27 Environmental, Health and Safety Yardnet website as a reminder of the shipyard's environmental policy.

NNS is looking forward to another successful audit to maintain the shipyard's ISO 14001 certification. NNS was originally awarded in 2003 and was renewed in 2006, 2009 and in 2012. For more information, contact Dwain Jenkins (O27) at 534-4066.

QMS Audit: The audit team will review work documents associated with many of the areas of the shipyard, including records for equipment calibration, training, production control, product testing, internal audits, and corrective and preventive actions. Auditors may also request to randomly interview employees in both nuclear and non-nuclear work areas about work procedures to evaluate their work practices, overall awareness of Newport News' quality management policies and the knowledge of the impact their work has. Employees should answer questions about how they normally accomplish their work.

During the last audit, several people and departments were asked about their work processes. Managers, general foremen and supervisors should emphasize to employees the importance of having knowledge of their work procedures and working to authorized procedures and drawings. A successful audit will maintain the shipyard's ISO 9001 certificate for the Quality Management System. The shipyard was first certified to ISO 9001 in 1993 and has renewed the certification every three years since. For additional information, contact Tony Burger (O04) at 534-3222.
