Pipe Shop Welcomes “The Pinball Machine”

On April 28, the Pipe Shop held a ribbon-cutting ceremony to welcome “The Pinball Machine” to its electric pipe bending inventory. The dual-headed bender that uses laser spring back correction, was named for its two bend heads that look like pinball flippers.

Manufacturing Engineer Nick Brady (X59) said, “The team implemented new features on the machine such as an accurate 3-D simulation and empty bend tooling, all of which, will help reduce cost, improve safety, and increase engagement.”

During the ceremony, Pipe Bending Specialist Robin Moody (X42) operated the first bend. “I’ve been here 32 years and this is a great machine that is easier, safer and faster to operate,” he said.

Facilities Project Engineer Curtis Armstrong (O41) led the ceremonial cutting of the ribbon. “The installation and commissioning of the new machine was successful, due to the great teamwork and partnership between the Pipe Shop, Manufacturing Engineering, Facilities, Maintenance, Planning, Information Technology, and the machine’s manufacture, Unison Ltd.,” he said. “The team fully committed to a goal of integrating safety, ergonomics, 5-S, and technology that led to this cutting-edge innovation.”

May is National Electrical Safety Month

Newport News Shipbuilding’s Electrical Department (X31) is taking part in National Electrical Safety Month by raising awareness about electrical safety. The department has placed posters and banners around the yard from Pier 2 to Dry Dock 12 and at nine of the turnstiles in honor of the month.

“Raising awareness about electrical hazards is the key to reducing home electrical fires, injuries and even death,” said X31 Trade Director David Batdorf. “Whether employees are at home or at work, electrical safety is important at all times. Our goal is to educate employees on small things that they can do to improve the electrical environment around them.”

The department also handed out small gifts and released a newsletter and a short video featuring several electricians and their “Words of Wisdom” regarding electrical safety. Watch the video highlighting Electrical Safety Month on Yardnet.

The Community Congratulates NNS on 130 Years

Visit the 130th Anniversary website to watch new congratulatory video messages from Burt Schmidt, President and CEO of WHRO-TV, John Broderick, President of Old Dominion University, and Debra Flores, President of Sentara Port Warwick. New videos are added to the website each week.

Employees React to NNS’ Personal Camera-Enabled Device Policy

It’s been 15 days since Newport News Shipbuilding’s personal camera-enabled device policy went into effect. Read what employees are saying about the policy on page 2.

"Whether it's a call from the school nurse or the day care center, it's nice to have the ability to have contact with your family about the important things."

Roger Minton, X11 Fitter

"I've been bringing my phone to work. I like being able to check my accounts on break and the fact I can possibly get rid of my second phone, which will save me money. I'm hoping the policy will remain in effect."

Tiffany Volk, O38 Inspector

"Even though I have been here for 25 years, I enjoy the advancements that have been made in modern technologies. I'm looking forward to seeing how the policy update will allow the company to expand its abilities to stay competitive with the new industries and what advantages it will give to our engineers to allow for even better products."

Edward McDaniel Jr.,
X52 Engineer Planning Analyst

"I like the policy change because in the past, if you missed a call from a doctor's office, you receive the voicemail when you get to the car, and sometimes it is too late in the day and the business would be closed. Now I can receive my voicemails and return calls at lunch."

Brandon Bowling, X11 Fitter

"I will continue to carry my non-camera phone because there are still areas of the yard where the phones are restricted. I just don't want to take that chance."

Bob Downin, X18 Welder

"I work 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. and now my husband and kids have direct access to call me if needed. I'm grateful the company is moving forward with time."

Tangela Wagner-Edmond, X91/X33 Coatings/Blast Foreman

ERGs Participate in Newport News Relay for Life Event

Shipbuilders and family members participated in the Newport News Relay for Life event at Todd Stadium on Saturday, May 7. Employee resource groups (ERGs) who supported the event were: AASA (African American Shipbuilding Association), HOLA (Hispanic Outreach and Leadership Alliance), SHIPs (Shipbuilders of Huntington Ingalls Professionals) Network, VERG (Veteran's Employee Resource Group) and WiSE (Women in Shipbuilding Enterprise).

These ERGs held various fundraisers over the past few months, raising over $2,800 for the American Cancer Society in support of finding a cure for cancer.

Christina Chapman (E73), who is a member of HOLA said, "On behalf of all the ERG's, we would like to thank everyone who supported this year's Relay for Life event. It's a testament to our commitment for community outreach initiatives."

General Foreman Katie Farris (X59) was recognized with the Women in Manufacturing STEP Ahead Award at The Manufacturing Institute reception in Washington, D.C., April 21.

NNS General Foreman Recognized for Excellence in Manufacturing

On April 21, The Manufacturing Institute recognized Newport News Shipbuilding General Foreman Katie Farris (X59) with the Women in Manufacturing STEP (Science, Technology, Engineering and Production) Ahead Award at a reception in Washington, D.C.

The STEP Ahead Award honors women who have demonstrated excellence and leadership in their careers and represents all levels of the manufacturing industry.

"These women are the faces of exciting careers in manufacturing," said Jennifer McNelly, executive director, The Manufacturing Institute.

Farris was honored for her continued focus on collaboration to accomplish business results. She routinely takes on challenges to identify gaps, defines areas for improvement, and is committed to delivering results.

"My passion for manufacturing is fueled by my desire to work in a fast-paced and dynamic work environment," said Farris. "Manufacturing allows me to use my knowledge and abilities while collaborating with a diverse workforce to build complex products."

AROUND THE YARD

Shipbuilder Steering the Way

Rob Hogan, vice president of Manufacturing and Supply Chain Management, presented shipbuilder Robert Prout Jr. (O53) with a level one On-the-Spot Ethics Award on April 27 for his ethical behavior.

While Prout was going through a scrapped tool box, he found and returned equipment that had never been used in the tool box valued at approximately $3,500 to $4,000.

DSS Assessment Begins May 23

The 2016 Defense Security Services (DSS) Vulnerability Assessment is scheduled to take place the week of May 23. The week-long assessment will evaluate the effectiveness of the company's security program to ensure compliance with the National Industrial Security Program Operating Manual. All areas of Newport News Shipbuilding are susceptible to inspection.

To prepare for the DSS Vulnerability Assessment, review the inspection basics on Yardnet. If selected for an interview, employees should limit response(s) to what is needed to answer each question. Review typical interview questions and answers on Yardnet.

"Thank You" for Completing the HII 2016 Business Ethics Survey

Huntington Ingalls Industries would like to thank all employees who participated in this year's HII Business Ethics Survey. The survey, which was open April 18 – May 2, is one of the ways HII demonstrates its commitment to an ethical culture. Survey results will assist leadership to develop resources to help employees deal with ethical challenges they encounter at work on a daily basis. At the end of the year, the results will be shared with employees.

NNS Partners with 2016 PrideFest

VCS Crew Recognized for Safety Initiatives

X11 Mechanics working in the Virginia-Class Submarine (VCS) Program were recently recognized for their continuous focus on safety.

The crew's Foreman Bruce Lawrence (X82) says that he is proud to be part of the team. "The key to our success is that we look out for each other, protect each other, and remember every day that we need to go home to our loved ones the same way we left them," he said.

The 13-member team has been accident-free for four years. Four members of the team, Kenneth Blizzard, James Clayborne, Ricky Jordan and Darryle Knight have been accident-free for 25 years. They agree that by being aware of their surroundings gives the team the ability to control potential dangers. They often remind each other to take their time and look out for one another.

ISO Audits Planned May 23-25

Newport News Shipbuilding will undergo a surveillance audit of its Environmental Management System (EMS) and recertification audit of its Quality Management System (QMS) May 23-25. The American Bureau of Shipbuilding Quality Evaluations (ABS-QE) will conduct these audits.

These audits will continue as an “integrated” approach in evaluating key areas of these two management systems. This means that personnel involved with discussions with the auditors will likely be questioned on both quality and environmental aspects of their work.

Environmental Management System (EMS) Audit

Selected parts of the ISO standard 14001 will be audited. Employees may be stopped by auditors and interviewed about general awareness of the company’s environmental policy or how their job could affect the environment. Employees can refer to their green ISO 14001 badge cards or the O27 Environmental, Health and Safety Yardnet website as a reminder of the shipyard’s environmental policy.

We are looking forward to another successful audit to maintain the shipyard’s ISO 14001 certification for the Environmental Management System. The shipyard was originally awarded in 2003 and has renewed the certification every three years since. For more information, contact Dwain Jenkins (O27) at 534-4066.

Quality Management System Audit

The audit team will review work documents associated with many of the areas of the shipyard, including records for equipment calibration, training, production control, product testing, internal audits, and corrective and preventive actions.

Auditors may also request to randomly interview employees in both nuclear and non-nuclear work areas about work procedures to evaluate their work practices, overall awareness of Newport News’ quality management policies and the knowledge of the impact their work has. Employees should answer questions about how they normally accomplish their work.

During the last audit, several people and departments were asked about their work processes. Managers, general foremen and supervisors should emphasize to employees the importance of having knowledge of their work procedures and working to authorized procedures and drawings.

A successful audit will maintain the shipyard’s ISO 9001 certificate for the Quality Management System. The shipyard was first certified to ISO 9001 in 1993 and has renewed the certification every three years since. For more information, contact Tony Burger (O06) at 534-3222.

About Face

Rethink what you think.

“A big part of my job is getting up in front of people to conduct classes and team meetings, but inside of me is a real struggle to get out there being the introverted personality I am. It’s not a life-threatening disease, but it’s something I have to keep working on.”
