Collaboration Drives CVN 79 Cost and Schedule Improvements

Since the keel for John F. Kennedy (CVN 79) was laid in August, CVN 79 shipbuilders have been working together to build a “Community of Cost Consciousness” that drives cost and schedule improvements at every level.

Superintendent Lee Murphy believes the key to improving is ownership and good communication. “We want everyone to own their decisions and also understand why we’re making the cost decisions we’re making,” he said. “To ensure that everyone is on the same page, weekly crew talks are held to communicate the status of safety, cost, quality and schedule. Communicating these goals has stirred up friendly competition between crews with everyone wanting to do the best they can to meet or exceed the goal.”

CVN 79 Program Director Mike Butler says that current performance on Kennedy is excellent. “Deckplate production has been absolutely outstanding, and our partners in the value-stream are providing what we need, when we need it. Because of the game changers we’ve implemented on CVN 79, we’re not only completing the work earlier, but we’re doing more work at the same point than we did on Gerald R. Ford – and we’re doing it in less man-hours.”

NNS Donates More Than 15,000 School Items to Hampton Roads Students

This year, Newport News Shipbuilding employees collected more than 15,000 school items for Hampton Roads students through its annual “School Tools” drive.

“We are members of the community as much as we are shipbuilders,” said Tom Cosgrove, manager of Corporate Citizenship. “We know that today’s students are our future shipbuilders and leaders. As a company, Newport News Shipbuilding values education and improving the lives of youth to help them realize their full potential. School Tools is one way that we will enhance the education of thousands of students this year.”

NNS employees donated, sorted and distributed a variety of school supplies for the drive, ...

Secretary of Labor Thomas Perez and Rep. Bobby Scott Tour The Apprentice School

Secretary of Labor Thomas E. Perez and Rep. Bobby Scott, D-Va., toured The Apprentice School on Monday, Sept. 21.

Matt Mulherin, Newport News Shipbuilding president, Ray Bagley, vice president of Trades Operations, and other executives led the tour. They also met with company leadership to discuss the state of the workforce at NNS and the school’s partnership with local community colleges as an education and training engine in Hampton Roads.

Perez talked with second-year students about what they like best about The Apprentice School. When he asked which students had prior college experience and college debt, the majority of the class raised their hands. “That’s the beauty of this,” Perez said of the school’s tuition-free education. “You stack one skill on top of another on top of another, and all the while you’re doing it without accumulating debt. You’re in a great program that’s going to set you up for life.”

Nelson Stud Welding Representatives Tour NNS

Newport News Shipbuilding hosted Nelson Stud Welding for a tour of several North Yard shops, a tool room, and USS Abraham Lincoln (CVN 72) Sept. 14-15. Members of the Stud Welding Global Process team, including representatives from Engineering, Process Excellence, X31 Electricians, Welding Services, and Facilities Maintenance led the tour.

Nelson Stud Welding is based in Elyria, Ohio, and is the premier global manufacturer and distributor of weld stud fasteners and stud welding application equipment serving a broad range of markets including the automotive, construction and industrial markets. NNS uses a wide range of Nelson products including stud welding machines, stud guns, many types of studs, and ferrules.

The visit focused on having Nelson conduct an assessment of the NNS stud welding operations and processes across projects and facilities and then to provide evaluation, recommendations, and proposals for improvement and enhancement.

Dan Hannon, director of Operations at Nelson, said, “It’s really exciting to see so many of our studs being used on a carrier.”

X11 Trades Director Joe Sabol, added, “We look forward to a closer working relationship with Nelson to develop products that will enhance our efficiency in the future.”

... including 5,076 pencils and 689 packs of paper. The supplies were delivered on Sept. 10 to the social services departments of Newport News, Hampton and York County and to the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Virginia Peninsula.

“We are so thankful for the wonderful generosity from Newport News Shipbuilding,” said Hal Smith, deputy director and chief operations officer of the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Virginia Peninsula. “These school supplies will enable our kids to start the school year off right and put them on the path to academic success.”

As the 26th Secretary of Labor, Perez is working to connect ready-to-work Americans with ready-to-be-filled jobs, through registered apprenticeship and on-the-job training programs like The Apprentice School. Prior to his current role, Perez served as assistant attorney general for civil rights at the U.S. Department of Justice and as secretary of Maryland’s Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation.

“It takes highly skilled shipbuilders to build the Navy’s fleet of aircraft carriers and submarines,” Scott said, “so it is critical that we have the necessary training, education and workforce development infrastructure in place. Thankfully in Hampton Roads, we have the private and public sectors working together to support our shipbuilding workforce. The secretary and I have collaborated on a number of training and education issues, and I was happy to host him in Newport News today.”

October is National Cyber Security Awareness Month

October is National Cyber Security Awareness Month. This year's theme at Newport News Shipbuilding is "Insider Threat."

On Thursday, a FBI representative will be at NNS for a lunch-and-learn presentation. Departments that would like to learn more about "Insider Threat" are encouraged to invite a T51 Cyber Security representative to speak at a staff meeting.

Type //InsiderThreat into your browser to learn more about "Insider Threat" or to sign up for the FBI lunch-and-learn event.

NEW! Employee Input Wanted for Veterans Day Ad

HII's Corporate Communications team is soliciting employee input for the company's 2015 Veterans Day website and advertising.

To be considered, please send an email to HII_Communications@hii-co.com with a response to the question: "What does it mean to be a veteran at HII?" (Non-veteran employees may participate by answering the question: "What does it mean to work with veterans at HII?")

Please include your name, division or subsidiary name, and phone number in your response. The deadline for submissions is Oct. 12.

HOLA's Hispanic Heritage Month Celebration is Tuesday

Hispanic Outreach Leadership Alliance (HOLA) will celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month on Tuesday, Sept. 29 from 4:30-6 p.m. in Bldg. 520-6 (James River Room). All employees are invited to attend. Newport News Shipbuilding President Matt Mulherin will be the guest speaker. Visit the HOLA website for more information or to join the employee resource group.

Second-Shift Reproduction Services Discontinued

To control and cut costs, all second-shift reproduction services have been discontinued. The change went into effect on Friday. Projects or departments needing emergent second-shift services should schedule it prior to the end of first shift. Read the Distribution A memo on Yardnet.

For more information, contact George Riddick (O14) at 380-7743 or Ray Carter (O14) at 688-3296.

Educational Assistance Procedure Updated in Command Media

Newport News Shipbuilding Procedure 02-700 has been updated in Command Media to reflect changes to the Education Assistance Program that were announced in July. To reduce and align costs with current operational requirements, NNS announced the program will be temporarily available only to current participants and the annual tuition benefit is limited to $5,250

New Expense Management System

On Nov. 2, Travel Accounting will launch a new expense reporting system. Appticity will replace the Global Expense Reporting Solutions (GERS) tool. Please note the following:

- There will be a blackout period from Oct. 19 - 29. During the blackout, GERS will not be available and new expense reports cannot be submitted. This period will enable Travel Accounting to audit reports previously submitted and allow employees to make corrections and obtain approval as a result of the audit.
- Employees are encouraged to submit all outstanding items purchased prior to Oct. 11, including airfare for future trips, to avoid delays with reimbursements.
- All expense reports submitted prior to Oct. 19 that are not resolved before Oct. 29 must be resubmitted for processing in the new Appticity system on or after Nov. 2.
- Corporate credit card transactions posted between Oct. 11 and Nov. 1 will be posted in the Appticity system and will be available for expensing on or after Nov. 2.
- The link to access Appticity will be available on the Travel website on Homeport beginning Nov. 2.

Training sessions will be offered in VASCIC Oct. 26-30. Beginning Sept. 29, employees can sign up for training through the Learning Exchange (LX). Additional training material will be available on the Travel website and one-on-one training in the NetCenter or in the Travel Accounting area at least once a week depending on demand beginning the week of Nov. 2 through the end of year or longer if needed.

View the training schedule and FAQs on the Travel website on Homeport. Contact Samantha Williams (O94) at 380-3893 for questions.

Welder Gerald Barnes (X18) and Fitter John Miller (X11) say that the planning, cooperation and communication between trades has played a major role in the program's success thus far. "I've worked at the shipyard for 39 years and have been involved in the construction of other carriers, and construction of CVN 79 has by far has gone the smoothest," said Barnes, who is also a makeup foreman. "We have a lot of experienced welders working the job, but I think the real key to success is that we're building relationships with each other so that when issues arise or if there are questions with a job we can go directly to the other trade and talk about it."

Miller added, "The welders know that they can come get us at any time and we will help out as necessary - we're all on the same team and striving for the same end results. The most challenging thing for the fitters has been the confined spaces. Everyone wants to go in, get the job done right and then get out. By working together with the welders, we've been able to achieve first-time quality and have been able to be very efficient in our work."

Murphy says he can't say enough good things about how the team has come together. "We have many unsung heroes working on this program who are getting things done in the dry dock," Murphy said. "What I've seen is true teamwork and it's very inspiring. It's a great start to building this ship."
