

NNS Converts to Natural Gas

As of Oct. 5, Newport News Shipbuilding has converted its steam-generation plant from heavy fuel oil, also known as Bunker C, to natural gas to improve safety and lower operating costs and emissions to the environment.

The plant generates low-pressure steam to heat many of the shipyard's facilities, to provide process heat and to support hotel services – including hot water, food preparation and galley services – to the ships undergoing construction and overhaul.

“We started researching and evaluating alternative options about four years ago with the goal of implementation by 2016,” said Bill Cash-Robertson, environmental engineer. “Not only does the conversion to natural gas make good business sense, it's more efficient, it's cleaner, and it's safer to operate.”

The old system, which included three 70-year-old boilers, burned about 6 million gallons of heavy fuel oil last year, costing the shipyard about $15 million. Plant Engineering Supervisor Ken Allmon, a member of the shipyard's energy management team, said the new system will reduce greenhouse gases by 30 percent and save the shipyard several million dollars per year in lower utility costs. “The team is proud of our work to overcome technical challenges and implement a solution that...

Shipbuilders Participate in the Southside Hampton Roads Heart Walk

Nearly 50 Newport News Shipbuilding employees, family and friends participated in the Southside Hampton Roads Heart Walk at Mount Trashmore this past Saturday.

Jeffery Hughes was a member of “The E89 Hearts” team. “My father died of heart disease so this is very important to me,” he said. “I walk every year and think about him. I also do it to promote good health.”

Fitter Darryl Dildy (X11) also participated in the walk as a member of the “Sub Shop Happy Hearts” team. “We take so many things like being able to walk, for granted,” he said. “I just lost a classmate of mine last week to a heart attack, so this walk means a lot to me. I think everyone should take advantage of the opportunities we have to raise awareness for a good cause – you never know who you might effect.”

It's not too late to join a team or sign up individually for the Peninsula Heart Walk event this Saturday, Oct. 17. Registration is FREE and is open to all employees, family and friends. Employees interested in walking Oct. 17 should contact Amy McDonald (O29) at 688-6489.

Employees Recognized for Participating in the Kennedy Keel Laying Ceremony

Newport News Shipbuilding leadership held a recognition luncheon on Sept. 22 to recognize three employees: Welder Donald Newsome (X18), Welder Leon Walston (X18) and Sr. Reproduction Clerk Antuan Barnes (O14), for their contributions to the John F. Kennedy (CVN 79) Keel Laying Ceremony that was held Aug. 22. During the ceremony, Barnes sang the national anthem, Newsome gave the invocation and Walston welded Ship's Sponsor Caroline Kennedy's initials onto a metal plate that will be permanently affixed to the aircraft carrier.

At the luncheon, Ray Bagley, vice president of Trades Operations, and Rob Hogan, vice president of Manufacturing and Supply Chain Management, congratulated the three employees for a job well done.

"Being recognized was very encouraging and uplifting," said Barnes. "To know that the

Run the 2016 One City Marathon

As part of ongoing Health and Wellness initiatives, Newport News Shipbuilding is once again the key sponsor for the 2016 One City Marathon. The Communications Division is looking for shipbuilders and teams who are running the marathon, relay or 8K, and who are interested in participating in an Instagram campaign. If selected, shipbuilders will receive a free registration for either of the events. Call Jeremy Bustin (O29) at 380-4384 or email him if you are interested.

Cohort 2 Completes E&D's Rotational Program

On Oct. 2, 13 employees completed Engineering and Design's (E&D) Rotational Program. The participants are the second rotational group to complete the two-year E&D program.

Tony Woodrum, a member of Cohort 2, said, "The rotation program sheds light on how important it is for each of us to approach our jobs with absolute dedication and commitment every day."

The program, started by Jennifer Boykin, vice president of E&D, began two-and-a-half years ago to increase awareness of various shipbuilding value streams and to develop high achievers and future leaders for Newport News Shipbuilding. The rotational program continues to grow with four cohorts rotating every six months through different areas of the company including: Augmented Reality, Common Integrated Work Package, Test Engineering and Kesselring Site Operations in New York. Currently, the program has 59 participants with the addition of the most recent group – Cohort 6.

"This has been and will probably be the most fortunate and beneficial opportunity of my career," said Brent Woodhouse (E08).

Designer Candice McDougald, added, "I'm now a well-rounded shipbuilder who stepped outside of her comfort zone to help build good ships. I learned a ton along the way."

The E&D Rotation Program was originally started for engineers and designers, however, the program now has a few opportunities for other salaried E&D individual contributors. Salaried employees interested in the program should visit the E&D Rotation Program webpage. Approval from the employee's leadership team is required for application. For specific questions about the program, contact E&D Rotation Program Manager Wayne Potter at 688-1274.

QuadMed to Hold Family Health Center Information Sessions for Hourly Employees this Week

With the opening of the new HII Family Health Center only a few months away, QuadMed, the health services company that will operate the new health center, will be at Newport News Shipbuilding this week to meet with hourly employees interested in learning more about the health center. Turn to p. 5 to view the schedule of dates, times and location of where QuadMed representatives will be this week.

L.E.A.R.N. to Host an After Work Event with Bharat Amin

The L.E.A.R.N. Program is hosting an after work presentation with Bharat Amin, vice president and CIO. Amin will discuss digital and mobile disruption on Thursday, Oct. 22 from 4:30 p.m. – 6 p.m. in Bldg. 520-6 (James River Room). The event is open to all employees and by reservation only. Prizes and refreshments will follow the presentation. Sign up on the L.E.A.R.N. Yardnet website.

Reminder: GERS Closing Oct. 16

Employees are reminded the last day to submit a new expense report in GERS is Friday, Oct. 16. To avoid late fees with employee's JP Morgan Corporate Credit Card, all credit card transactions posted in GERS as of Oct. 11 should be "pre-popped" into an expense report even if the travel is not until a later date. The blackout period (Oct. 19 -29) will be used to clear out the audit queue and give employees an opportunity resubmit any returned expense reports that need correction. Training sessions will be offered in VASCIC Oct. 26-30. Employees can sign up for training through the Learning Exchange (LX) beginning Sept. 29. Visit the Travel website on Homeport to view the training schedule and FAQs.

NNS Employees Wear Pink to Raise Awareness for Breast Cancer

Women in Shipbuilding Enterprise (WiSE) encouraged employees to wear pink on Friday, Oct. 9 in honor of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Employees dressed in pink met at the Dorothy, outside of Bldg. 520 during lunch to take a group photo.

To view other photos of crews wearing pink around the yard, visit the WiSE Yardnet website. Pictures will be added throughout the week. Photo by Ricky Thompson

A-School and E&D Host Professional Development Program Breakfast for Apprentices

On Sept. 18, the Professional Development Program (PDP) apprentices gathered for breakfast and to talk with Apprentice Facility and engineering leadership about their experience in combining Apprentice education with the pursuit of an engineering degree. The event was hosted by The Apprentice School and Newport News Shipbuilding's Engineering and Design Division.

The program allows apprentices to gain on-the-job engineering experience in the manufacturing, construction, maintenance and overhaul of some of the most complex ships in the world while earning a bachelor of science in electrical or mechanical engineering. The program currently hosts 40 students, with the first three graduating in spring 2016.

"This rotation gives the apprentice experience working with a variety of people, also allows the apprentice to work with a variety of current shipyard leaders who do their work well, and to learn from their example," Chief Engineer

Apprentices attend a breakfast to talk with Apprentice Facility and E&D leadership about the Professional Development Program Sept. 18. Photo by Ricky Thompson

Charles Southall said, "Everyone here has a responsibility in this program. Whether that be the management team helping guide these students and focus on building our future leaders or whether it's the students themselves who have to work hard and apply themselves 100 percent to this program."

The goal of PDP is to strengthen the bridge between NNS' industrial and technical leadership. The seminars will continue to occur quarterly to allow the students and management team to remain connected.

... is a win for everybody," he said.

Will Koeck, the project's construction engineer, said one challenge was to safely remove and install large boilers in a plant that had to continue operating during the conversion. "We met the challenge with careful coordination and planning, and we had the first new boiler in place making steam in December 2014," he said.

REMINDER: Pedestrian and Vehicle Safety

Newport News Shipbuilding has received several complaints of employees darting into traffic when crossing Huntington Ave. and Washington Ave. as well as cars speeding up when employees are crossing the street. NNS would like to remind all employees to be cautious when walking to the gates or to other forms of transportation and to be vigilant and mindful of your surroundings. All employees are reminded of the following:

- Cross the street only at designated crosswalks.
- Do not dart out into traffic.
- Stop before crossing the street; look left and right and left again then cross when clear.
- Make eye contact with the driver before you cross in front of a vehicle.
- It is safest to walk on the sidewalk.
- Continue to look for traffic at all times.
- Be careful at the intersections, where drivers might have a tendency to not yield the right-of-way.
- Look across all lanes of traffic before crossing and visually clear each lane before proceeding. Even if one motorist stops, do not assume drivers in other lanes can see you and will stop.
- Don't wear headphones or talk on a cell phone while crossing.

Illinois is Christened During Oct. 10 Ceremony

In front of nearly 2,000 people, Ship's Sponsor and First Lady Michelle Obama christened submarine Illinois (SSN 786) at General Dynamics Electric Boat in Groton, Conn. Oct. 10.

NNS President Matt Mulherin spoke during the ceremony, "The Illinois has something its sister ships don't have- sponsorship by Michelle Obama." He said her "strength and inspiring spirit," will be instilled into the submarine.

During her remarks, Obama said, "And all of this truly is a testament to the talent and skill of the folks who built this boat – the folks from General Dynamics Electric Boat, the folks from Huntington Ingalls Industries, Newport News Shipbuilding – and to all of the welders, the machinists, the metalworkers, the electricians, and everyone else in this community, in the communities throughout the country who applied their particular genius to make this ship a reality. You all are amazing, and we can't thank you enough. So congratulations."

Other dignitaries who spoke at the event were Illinois Gov. Bruce Rauner, Director of Naval Nuclear Propulsion Admiral James Caldwell Jr., and Navy Secretary Ray Mabus.
