

I am not a
Foreigner.

About Face

Rethink what you think.

“I’m an American citizen and served in the U.S. Navy. When I came to America from Taiwan, English was a language barrier. Bullies picked on me, and I couldn’t express my emotions through my words. Being able to communicate is very important. We have so much to learn from one another. Without people from different nationalities and countries, we would not have this melting pot today.”

John Kraft

 Inclusion +
Diversity

Newport News Shipbuilding
A Division of Huntington Ingalls Industries

