

A New Twist on Sub Construction

Crews recently completed a major construction milestone for a fixture that will transform business operations and help revolutionize the way Newport News Shipbuilding constructs submarine hulls.

X36 shipbuilders and contractors spent much of Saturday, Jan. 27, working to connect the components of the Advanced Fixture Assembly Machine in the Fixture Production Bay at the Joint Manufacturing and Assembly Facility (JMAF). Crews precisely positioned the caisson – a 400 metric-ton circular component that is 34 feet tall with a diameter of 66 feet – between two 73-foot columns and secured it to two coulisseaux, which allow the fixture to raise up and down the two columns and overturn 180 degrees.

“Everything went nice and smooth. It was a total team effort, not just one individual,” said Gary Lowe (X36), part of the 16-member transporter team that positioned the caisson.

Pressure hulls for Virginia- and Columbia-class submarine bows and sterns will be assembled inside the fixture. An overhead crane will introduce submarine hull plates into the fixture. An internal assembly tower and welding tower will move into position via embedded tracks and motorized carriages to assemble and weld the hull.

NNS Marks 132nd Anniversary

Sunday, Jan. 28, marked 132 years of business for Newport News Shipbuilding. As the company celebrates this anniversary and its history, NNS leaders are also looking toward the future.

Recently, senior staff met and put together a plan and vision for moving the company FORWARD. After discussing what they want NNS' future to look, feel and sound like, leaders turned to Shipbuilders Rochelle Robbins (O62) and Renaë Myles (E01) to bring their words to life through art.

Robbins communicated the NNSFORWARD Strategy's goals through spoken word, and Myles produced the painting shown to the left. Shipbuilders are invited to watch videos of Robbins performing spoken word and Myles describing her painting on MyNNS. There is also an anniversary photo slideshow on NNS' external website. Posters depicting the painting are now available on the first floor of Bldg. 520.

Renaë Myles and Angela Nuttle recently produced this painting to visually represent NNS' path forward.

NNS Parking Team Provides Updates

Hidens Parking Lot

As announced in the Jan. 16 edition of Currents, Facilities crews continue to work to add 500 spaces to the Hidens Parking Lot, located off Warwick Boulevard. Currently, 150 of the 500 spaces are available for employee use. As additional spaces become available throughout the construction period, updates will be communicated to employees via Currents, the NNS to Go app and MyNNS. All 500 spaces will be complete by the end of March.

NNS employees with any color parking decal can park at Hidens. Company shuttles are available to transport employees from Hidens to and from the North Yard (Monday through Friday). As a reminder, employees are strongly encouraged to use this shuttle service to safely get to and from their work area. Watch highlights video on MyNNS.

Bldg. 902, 903 and Navy Garages

Open parking for NNS employees is available in specified areas of the Bldg. 902 and 903 garages and the Navy Garage. See below for detailed information about each garage. As a reminder, employees should only park in the designated open areas of these garages. Vehicles parked in other levels of these garages without proper credentials are subject to being towed. The Parking Team would also like to remind employees that the Bldg. 903 garage has recently been filling up to near capacity, however, many spaces remain available in the Bldg. 902 Garage.

- Bldg. 902 Garage:
  - Location: Warwick Boulevard between 26th and 28th streets
  - The ramp to the top deck and the entire top deck of this garage (214 spaces) is available to employees with any color NNS parking decal. The external shuttle stop for this location is at the Bldg. 903 Garage and can transport employees to the 50th, 46th, 42nd, and 31st street gates, where they can use the shipyard's internal shuttle to get to the North Yard.
- Bldg. 903 Garage:
  - Location: Warwick Boulevard between 28th and 30th streets
  - The ramp to the top deck and the entire top deck of this garage (197 spaces) is available to employees with any color NNS parking decal. The external shuttle stops at this garage and can transport employees to the 50th, 46th, 42nd, and 31st street gates, where they can use the shipyard's internal shuttle to get to the North Yard. Note: Do not park in spaces labeled, "Reserved for MDC."

City to Begin Huntington Avenue Bridge Replacement Project

In March, the city of Newport News is scheduled to begin work on a project to replace the Huntington Avenue Bridge. Newport News Shipbuilding's Facilities team has been and will continue to communicate closely with the city until the project's completion, which is expected in April 2019.

When the project begins, the following traffic pattern changes will be implemented:

- Huntington Avenue will be closed for pedestrian and vehicular traffic from 42nd to 39th streets.
- All vehicle and pedestrian traffic will be rerouted through Washington Avenue.
- A temporary traffic light will be installed at Washington Avenue and 42nd Street; this light will include pedestrian crossings.
- A pedestrian fence will be installed on Washington Avenue between 42nd and 39th streets to funnel pedestrian traffic to the designated 42nd and 39th street crosswalks.
- The railroad cut on 40th Street will be blocked to shipyard traffic.

Signage will be posted in and around this vicinity, however, pedestrians and drivers are expected to use caution. During shift changes and peak hours of travel, delays and congestion are expected. If possible, employees should avoid travel in this area. Private bus and van services should consider drop-off and pick-up locations outside of this vicinity.

As updates become available, information about the project will be communicated to employees via Currents, the NNS to Go app and MyNNS. For questions, contact Orama Omayra (O41) at 688-5032.

These towers are outfitted with services and devices eliminating the need for temporary services, staging, fitting equipment and welding equipment. Once pressure hull assembly is complete, bow and stern sections will be removed from the fixture and moved to other submarine facilities for final outfitting.

The first advanced fixture is scheduled to be in service this summer and fully operational in the fall.

“This fixture will allow production teams to lift and overturn the hull unit during the assembly process so welding operations can be performed in the down-hand position,” said JMAF Project Engineer Cameron Lucas, who is responsible for the assembly of the fixture. “The first advanced fixture will significantly increase the efficiency of the pressure hull assembly process because it automates many of the conventional hull fabrication methods currently in use.”

Plans are already underway to construct several more advanced fixtures in the

Quality Division Hosts iDS Trailer Tours

More than 300 shipbuilders from the Quality Division toured the Integrated Digital Shipbuilding (iDS) Mobile Experience (MX) Trailer in December. Inspectors, engineers and supervisors led tours for shipbuilders on all three shifts.

"We wanted to increase awareness of iDS within our division and solicit feedback and buy in," said Chris Story (O31), iDS lead for the Quality Division. "It's important for people to see how digital shipbuilding will impact their work in the future."

Ian Gilpatrick (O39) is one of the inspectors who led tours. "There were some really good questions," he said. "A lot of people seemed excited about what they saw in the trailer."

Gilpatrick said it was nice to hear feedback from employees who already have experience using some of the iDS tools on the waterfront, and he suggests all shipbuilders take advantage of opportunities to learn more about NNS' digital transformation. "Come see what they're working on, and get your hands on the tools and equipment," he said. "I can see this doing nothing but helping the company in the long run."

JMAF. “In line with the NNSFORWARD Strategy, this will significantly increase manufacturing’s capacity and efficiency for this portion of Virginia- and *Columbia-*class submarine work,” said Billy Wright, Structural Fabrication and Assembly superintendent for the fixtures at the JMAF.

Shipbuilders Enjoy Giving Back

Shipbuilders from the Business Technology and Transformation Department (T56) gathered with others to provide a holiday season event for the Menchville House in Newport News.

The Menchville House is an emergency housing facility for women and children. The facility has served more than 1,000 people since 2001, working to empower women to become healthy, independent and contributing members of the community.

Together with more than 20 organizations, the Business Technology and Transformation Department provided donations, valued at approximately $4,000, to the Menchville House. Several shipbuilders from the department gathered in December to distribute donations to approximately 30 women and 16 children, serve a holiday meal and provide gifts.

“Even though the holiday season is over, it’s important that we don’t forget there are people in our community who need our help and support throughout the entire year,” said Amanda Hepler (T56). “Hopefully, this will be a reminder to everyone to keep looking forward to the future and remembering others along the way.”
