Shipbuilders Participate in One City Marathon

More than 100 Newport News Shipbuilding employees participated in the One City Marathon, hosted by the City of Newport News Sunday, March 12. Shipbuilders participated in each of the four "One City" events – the marathon, Maritime 8K, marathon relay and nautical mile.

North Yard Crane Maintenance Foreman Bill Russell (O43) ran the marathon relay with Facilities Planner Rodney Beltz (X10). "Rodney approached me and asked for my help with training for this year's race and I was more than happy to support him," said Russell. "I'm always up for a challenge to prove to myself and to others, that you can run even at my age."

Virginia-Class Submarine (VCS) Construction Supervisor Rodney Huffman (X82) participated in the 8K race with his wife Bahar. "Leading up to the race, we were both focused on sticking with a training regimen to be ready for the run," he said. "It's really nice to be able to motivate each other to get healthy and fit."

Mechanical Engineer Samantha Mallory (E64) also took part in the marathon. "By having the shipyard participate and sponsor the marathon each year, it shows the employees that they care about their health and encourages a healthy lifestyle," she said.

At the end of the race, NNS had a tent with a prize wheel and giveaways for race participants. Watch a highlights video of the One City Marathon on MyNNS or visit the marathon's website at www.onecitymarathon.com to view race results.

NNS' Onsite Prescription Safety Glass Program Set to Begin this Week

Newport News Shipbuilding's Health and Safety Department will begin its new onsite prescription safety glass program this week. Through the program, employees will be eligible to purchase NNS-approved prescription safety glasses twice a week at convenient locations throughout the shipyard.

At each onsite location, opticians from Walman Optical, a provider of prescription safety glasses, will be available to assist employees with identifying appropriate frames and lens. Opticians will also ensure frames are properly fitted. Glasses offered onsite will range in wholesale prices starting as low as $29.

"The number of local prescription safety glasses providers has dwindled in the last few years, so we think having Walman Optical on the premises is a great opportunity for our employees," said Environmental Health and Safety Director Dru Branche. "Safety glasses are a vital piece of the personal protective equipment we use every day, so we're delighted to be able to offer our employees access to affordable and convenient prescription safety

"The Skype interview was an excellent way to meet with an out-of-area candidate," said Guerin. "It was more interactive than a traditional telephone interview and it allowed...

Recognizing Trailblazing Women

The national theme for Women's History Month is "Honoring Trailblazing Women in Labor and Business." To coincide with this year's theme, the shipyard is recognizing three trailblazing female shipbuilders at Newport News Shipbuilding. For the remaining weeks in March, one of the three women will be featured in Currents each week.

Danyelle Saunders is a Facilities Engineering Manager at NNS. She has been working at the shipyard for 18 years and is currently responsible for leading the company's Plant Engineering Architectural Services team, a team responsible for office and warehouse renovations, modular and trailer facilities, new office and specialty construction, furniture, interior accessories, ergonomic office solutions and personnel relocations shipyard-wide.

Saunders is not only a leader at the shipyard, but also a leader in the community through her volunteer work with local organizations including HELP Inc., Antioch Improvement Ministries, Inc., Hampton City School System, Time Out 4 U, Inc., Girls, Inc., Parents Against Bullying and Girls with Engineering Minds in Shipbuilding. In 2014, Saunders started the #WhyEngineering Roadshow, a network of local STEM professionals who seek to educate parents on how they can support STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) to their children and youth of all ages through projects and hands on activities.

"I like to think that my efforts of partnering with others to promote education and awareness, have made our community a better place," said Saunders. "I am especially devoted to mentoring youth and increasing their interest in STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) fields. The demand for STEM professionals is growing, however, statistics show that only one in five college degrees are earned in the field. The younger youth are exposed to the relationship STEM has on the world, the more likely they will show interest and pursue a career in the field. As a mentor, I hope to inspire youth – especially young females."

Shipbuilder Steering the Way

Earlier this year, John Melzer (X11) noticed his elderly neighbor's kitchen was on fire. Melzer immediately went over to his neighbor's house and evacuated his neighbor from the home. While waiting for the local fire department, Melzer was able to extinguish the fire and save the home from a total loss.

To recognize his ethical behavior, Ray Bagley, vice president of Trades Operations, met with Melzer on Feb. 8 to present him with an ethics award.

"Each day, I find tremendous joy in knowing that we have shipbuilders like John, who will take the safety training that is provided in execution of work in the shipyard and use it to help others outside of the shipyard," Bagley said.

Mail Reminders; Take Mail Services Survey

Did you know that currently three shipyard mail carriers deliver mail to 125 locations and pick-up from more than 200 delivery points? These locations include 30 areas outside of Newport News Shipbuilding. The mail clerks also receive and process in 50 or more external deliveries daily.

Using nicknames not listed in Microsoft Outlook or listing a name by initials creates identification holdups. For example, "M" could stand for Mark, Mike, Michelle, Mary, Morgan, etc... More specific information makes it quicker to identify where mail or packages should be delivered to.

As a result, Mailroom personnel can spend up to four hours a week trying to identify improperly addressed mail. As a reminder, internal mail (Yardmail) needs the employees' name, department and building number/floor.

Additionally, employees who have not updated their address information in Outlook should do so as soon as possible. Employees are also reminded to give vendors correct address information.

For additional information, visit the recently updated Mail Services MyNNS page. This website has information on locating zip codes, tracking USPS, UPS and FedEx packages, FAQs, Surveys and Mailroom News.

Please share other mail-related feedback by participating in the Mail Services Survey.

For questions, contact Doris McNair, manager of Office Services, at 688-1727.
