NNS Unveils Monument Honoring Fallen Workers

A new monument honoring workers who died or were injured on the job is on display at Newport News Shipbuilding. Shipbuilders unveiled the monument at the three Workers' Memorial Day ceremonies on April 30. A ceremony was held during lunch on every shift.

"This monument, showing a walnut base, bronze boots and a hard hat, was created to serve as a constant reminder of our shipbuilders' sacrifice, life, dedication and hard work," said Willie Hayes, director for Submarine Construction in Structural Fabrication and Assembly.

The monument is currently located in the lobby of the Supplemental Modular Outfitting Facility (SMOF). It will move to different locations, including other lobbies and production areas. The patternmakers who built it include Chris Perry, George LaFrance, Zachary Hudgins and Zane Haden.

"We put everything we had into making this monument something special for employees and family to see," Hudgins said. "We wanted to build something that would remind everyone of the importance of working safely."

Dru Branche, director of Environmental Health and Safety, spoke at the second-shift ceremony and emphasized the importance of safety while working in an industrial environment. She said safety has improved significantly at NNS in the last few years. "Last year we closed out with about 900 injuries," she said. "It's one of our best years to date. I'm proud safety is better, but if you are part of the 900, it's still way too many."

HII Family Vision Center Opens

The HII Family Vision Center celebrated its grand opening May 1. Operated by VSP, Huntington Ingalls Industries' vision insurance provider, the vision center offers comprehensive eye care and a full retail section with eyeglasses, safety glasses, contact lenses and more.

"It's very convenient since it's right across the street from the shipyard," said Charles Spivey, president of the United Steelworkers union. Spivey and Linwood Parrish, vice president of the United Steelworkers union, toured the vision center and met the staff at the grand opening. "It's great to hear they don't have to dilate your eyes when you do an eye exam. It gets you back to work faster."

An optometrist and opticians are on-staff to offer eye exams, treatment for eye conditions, frame fitting and more. The vision center is open to all HII employees and dependents and offers in-network rates to individuals...

Shipbuilders Recognize National Electrical Safety Month

Newport News Shipbuilding's Electrical Department (X31) is recognizing May as National Electrical Safety Month. This is the third year X31 has sponsored the Electrical Safety Month initiative. The department has placed banners around the yard from Pier 2 to Dry Dock 12 to help raise awareness about electrical safety.

"I believe bringing awareness to electrical safety hazards is the best way to prevent accidents and I am proud to be a small part of the Electrical Safety Month campaign," said Industrial Engineer Stan Reams.

On average, there are more than 300 deaths and 4,000 injuries across the nation each year from contact with an electrical energy source. There are more than 2,500 children treated from wall outlet accidents each year. These numbers don't include countless near misses that aren't reported, according to Reams.

The Electrical Department (X31) placed banners around NNS to raise awareness about electrical safety.

"If this initiative helps prevent a death or an accident, it is well worth the effort," he said. The department is also playing a short video around the yard that features various electricians and their words of wisdom regarding electrical safety.

Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month: Brant Requizo

May is Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month. The theme for this year's Inclusion and Diversity (I&D) monthly recognition campaign is "Unite Our Voices by Speaking Together." As part of the campaign, four employees will be featured during each recognition month – two from within the featured demographic and two outside of it. Employees will share personal stories, insight and perspectives on what the month means to them. Features will be published in Currents, the NNS to Go app, MyNNS and HII social media channels.

Brant Requizo (X31) remembers eating lunch on board USS John F. Kennedy (CV-67) – the ship on which his father served – as a child. Back then, Requizo had no idea he would one day help to build aircraft carriers, including USS Gerald R. Ford (CVN 78) and Kennedy's second namesake ship – CVN 79.

At Newport News Shipbuilding for about seven years, Requizo is a deck electrician, working to install and test electrical equipment on boats. "You have to listen to the veteran shipbuilders and just soak it in. You learn something different almost every day," he said.

The son of immigrants from the Philippines, Requizo said his father's Navy service was one factor that compelled him to work at NNS. "My father was a Navy veteran and a civil servant. Although he faced challenges and discrimination, he was determined to become a citizen and give my brother and me a better life than he had growing up."

Requizo said he believes NNS is moving in the right direction in terms of diversity, although he would like to see more Asian American and Pacific Islander representation among the deckplate workforce. "I had great leadership when I got here. They pulled me in and taught me. That inspired me to help others coming behind me."

Now, Requizo regularly tells people he meets in the community to "take a chance at shipbuilding." The industry is stable and offers the chance to make a difference, he said.

"The United States is a land of opportunity, and I'm grateful for the sacrifices my parents made to come here from the Philippines. My father served in the Navy for 20 years, and now I get to serve in a different way. It's important that we encourage more people from diverse backgrounds to come to the shipyard, because we can all contribute with unique skills, talents and perspectives."

ASIAN ERG Hosts Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month Celebration

The Asian Shipbuilders Including All Nationalities (ASIAN) employee resource group hosted an Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month celebration for Newport News Shipbuilding employees May 1.

The event featured a panel discussion about workforce diversity with Bharat Amin, vice president and chief information officer; Mary McDermott, manager, Nuclear Propulsion – Overhaul Engineering; Chris Miner, vice president of In-Service Aircraft Carrier Programs; and Margaret Williams, manager, Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) and Diversity.

The discussion focused on exploring, understanding and embracing different aspects of inclusion and diversity. Panelists talked about the influence of diversity on their own identity and how they have applied their knowledge and experiences in the workplace.

“It was a fantastic demonstration of how diversity leads to prosperity,” said Richard Mullin (E83). “One common theme I found throughout the event was that the range and variety of cultures and upbringing brings about different opinions and ways to handle issues in the workplace. This multitude of different ideas and methodologies in the workplace is a necessary component of a prosperous company.”

Shipbuilders Recognized for Engagement and Leadership

The USS George Washington (CVN 73) Waterfront Leadership Engagement Team (WLET) recently held a luncheon to recognize a group of shipbuilders for modeling engagement and leadership on the deckplate during the first quarter of 2018.

Shipbuilders recognized were: Jerry Williford (X11), Leroy Jones (X18), Nicholas Schneider (X18), Joey Wiggins (X18), Bobby Nichols (X31), Carl Richardson (X31), Duriel Smith (X31), Jamal Herbert (X32), Steven Hyler (X32), Dwayne Solomon (X32), John Hoffer (X33), Adriane King (X33), Alphonso Whitby (X33), Dashawn Turner (X36), Christopher Aldridge (X42), Brent Bunn (X42), Robert Upshur (X42), Roger Auxier (X43), Jose Villaneuva Salamanca (X43) and Donald Stedry (X43).

In appreciation for their efforts, the WLET presented each shipbuilder with a certificate, coin and hard hat sticker.

“We would like to again thank these engaged shipbuilders for setting the bar and leading the way to improve waterfront engagement,” said WLET member Travis Cook (X43). “The CVN 73 WLET will continue to recognize shipbuilders for their leadership, engagement efforts and high deckplate presence each quarter.”

The WLET, which is composed of trade leaders, has been committed to improving the lives of shipbuilders in the In-Service Aircraft Carrier Program since 2015. The team works closely with deckplate craftsmen and craftswomen to increase engagement and help provide solutions to important concerns from the workforce.

Parking and Transportation Updates

North Yard: Blue and Silver Decal Parking

In an effort to standardize parking allocations across the shipyard, Facilities will soon be separating the currently combined blue and silver decal areas in the North Yard – this is the only location at NNS where two types of decals share a lot. The date of when this change will occur has not yet been determined, but will be communicated in advance via company communication channels.

When the blue and silver parking areas are separated, both will be in close proximity to the West Gate, as well as the Brown and Root Gate, giving employees several options to enter the shipyard. Once the change is implemented, there will be signage to direct employees to the correct parking area and a minimal grace period to allow employees to get acclimated to the change before Security begins enforcement.

NNS will monitor usage of these parking areas and will make adjustments as necessary. For questions, contact Ann Willis (O69) at 688-3094.

Parking/Traffic Improvement Study

As referenced in the first quarter 2018 Quality of Life update, Newport News Shipbuilding has contracted with a third party vendor to conduct a Parking/Traffic Improvement Study to evaluate parking across the shipyard and future parking needs based on ship schedules. Potential short and long-term parking solutions and recommendations to improve traffic flow will be included in the study.

Beginning the week of May 7, shipbuilders will likely see drones and surveyors taking photos of shipyard parking areas and observing traffic flow immediately outside shipyard gates. This activity has been approved by NNS Security and is part of the ongoing study.

Additional information about this study will be communicated with employees and results will be shared with the workforce in the third quarter of this year. For specific questions about the study, contact John Chilbert (O41) at 380-7037.

Shipbuilders Honored for Work During Datacenter Power Down

Shipbuilders who spent a March weekend working around the clock to power down Newport News Shipbuilding's datacenter, complete necessary facility repairs and bring the datacenter back up were honored during a recent luncheon.

During the shutdown, shipbuilders worked to repair a water valve that supports the datacenter's sprinkler system.

"This was a unique challenge for the entire team and they came together and worked through the planning and execution in a very professional and deliberate way. This enabled them to complete the task ahead of schedule and accomplish more than was planned. This team has set a high standard that will be very helpful as we continue with similar efforts in the future," said Jim O'Brien, director of Facilities.

The massive undertaking from Friday, March 2, until Sunday, March 4, involved about 170 people – including IT and Facilities personnel, electricians and suppliers, according to Technology Services Director Ken Forrest. "While there were a few tense moments with expected hardware failures, our team overcame numerous obstacles and banded together to resolve all issues and deliver the datacenter back to the business 4.5 hours ahead of schedule," he said.

Karen Ryan (T54), manager of the Technical Services team, was among the shipbuilders who worked more than 24 hours during the weekend. "It was an amazing, adrenaline-driven experience to watch how the team came together and was able to accomplish such a huge goal in such a short amount of time," she said. "It truly made me proud to see such an event and to be part of that team."
