NNS Delivers Indiana (SSN 789)

Newport News Shipbuilding on Monday delivered Indiana (SSN 789), the newest nuclear-powered fast attack submarine, to the U.S. Navy.

Indiana is the 16th Virginia-class submarine built as part of the teaming agreement with General Dynamics Electric Boat and the eighth delivered by NNS.

"We are proud to deliver Indiana to the Navy," said Dave Bolcar, vice president of Submarine Construction. "For the nearly 4,000 shipbuilders who participated in construction of the boat, there is nothing more important than knowing that this vessel will support the Navy's missions."

Indiana, which began construction in September 2012, successfully completed sea trials earlier this month. The vessel will be commissioned later this year.

NNS Launches New Parking App

Today, Newport News Shipbuilding launched its newest parking resource – NNXPRESS, a new app designed to locate company shuttles and taxis in real time. Through the app, which is available for free download in both the Google Play and Apple app stores, employees can view a map of NNS shuttle routes and also pinpoint the exact location and estimated time of arrival to specific shuttle stops during operational hours.

Currently, the company's full-time shuttles and taxis are visible within the app. In the near future, GPS locators will be installed on 10 additional shuttles that will also be visible on NNXPRESS.

"The idea to create this app originated from shipbuilders who volunteered to be part of the employee parking solutions group earlier this year," said Heather Criner, Facilities manager. "Locating shuttles and..."

Shipbuilders Meet New HII Family Health Center Doctor

Shipbuilders and their families met the HII Family Health Center's new doctor and nurse practitioner during a recent meet and greet event. Attendees were able to talk with Dr. Joyce Lea and nurse practitioner Devin Bailey, learn about the health center's services and enter a drawing to win a YETI cooler.

"My wife already has an appointment scheduled with the new doctor," said Drew Christensen (A572). Christensen and his wife attended the event and won the Yeti cooler raffle. "There was good information about other programs at the health center that I hadn't heard about before. The services are so convenient."

LGBT Pride Month: Willie Sears

June is LGBT Pride Month. The theme for this year's Inclusion and Diversity (I&D) monthly recognition campaign is "Unite Our Voices by Speaking Together." As part of the campaign, four employees will be featured during each recognition month – two from within the featured demographic and two outside of it. Employees will share personal stories, insight and perspectives on what the month means to them. Features will be published in Currents, the NNS to Go app, MyNNS and HII social media channels.

Although Willie Sears (X73) is not a member of the LGBT community, he has many reasons for being a committed ally.

"I have family members and friends in the LGBT community, and I can identify with many experiences that often leave them feeling alone," he said. "During Pride Month – and all year long – we should educate ourselves and get to know one another. We should listen to understand and not judge. Everyone can make a difference."

Sears, who has worked at Newport News Shipbuilding since 1983, is currently a chemical handler in the Production Refueling and Nuclear Support Department. "We work the carriers, submarines and facilities, so I'm not in one place. We rotate so I get to meet people, and I think that's the best part of my job."

Born with a congenital condition that affects about one in 300 boys, Sears found a community of peers about 15 years ago and began attending conferences. "Once I found out I was not alone, my whole life changed," he said.

But Sears admits he was a little uneasy when his group merged with a group for intersex and transgender individuals a few years later. However, he continued to attend conferences, meet people from the community and develop friendships. "I realized my own unconscious bias, and I decided to learn more," he said. "I think education is key."

Sears soon found he had a lot in common with many members of the LGBT community. "I understand having a secret that you don't want to share with others. I also understand being teased and misunderstood because I've been through it," he said.

Now, Sears is an active member of the Shipbuilders Together Realizing Inclusion, Diversity and Equality (STRIDE) employee resource group at NNS. "You have to be the example of what you want to see in others," he said. "I see possibilities in everyone."

View Sears' poster on MyNNS. Employees interested in participating in this year's I&D campaign should visit nns.huntingtoningalls.com/id-campaign-2018.

More than 40 shipbuilders participated in a Lean Leaders Champions Training workshop June 13-14.

Shipbuilders Learn Lean Practices

More than 40 shipbuilders, including Dannon Butts, director of Industrial Engineering and Business Transformation, participated in a Lean Leaders Champions training workshop sponsored by the Association for Manufacturing Excellence (AME) June 13-14 at the Peninsula Workforce Development Center in Hampton. Joe Barto, workshop lead, said "the team and organization win when every teammate is engaged and doing the right things."

AME is a world-class community of more than 4,000 professionals dedicated to a journey of continuous improvement and enterprise excellence. NNS and AME are partnering to provide lean practices to help streamline processes and reduce wasteful practices. "In order to support the NNSFORWARD Strategy priorities of Enable Our Workforce and Execute Efficiently, all shipbuilders must understand our responsibility to look for better and faster ways to do things," said Kim Humphrey, manager of Strategic Sourcing and national AME vice president of Alliances.

"This year we have to continue making visible process changes that will allow us to improve performance on our current and future contracts," Butts said. "Lean Manufacturing offers a proven toolkit to help improve performance by focusing on reducing wastes in our processes and defining value in the eyes of our internal and external customers."

All NNS employees are eligible for membership rates to training events and conferences. To learn more, visit www.ame.org or contact Kim Humphrey at 380-7129.

Newport News Shipbuilding's Career Pathways recently supported the Youth Volunteer Corps of Hampton Roads' annual Can-Structure Competition. Elementary, middle and high school teams were given five hours to build a structure made of cans that was stable enough to withstand a one week viewing period.

In addition to being a sponsor for the event, NNS also provided volunteer judges and assigned engineers to teams that requested support.

NNS Engineer Andrew Hinojosa (E83), was a team mentor for Warwick High School in Newport News, which won the high school division. "I volunteered to be a mentor so I could use my engineering knowledge to help local high school students learn basic engineering concepts. Although I did not know I would be assigned to Warwick High School, I am glad I was since I graduated from there in 2008," he said.

All the food used for construction – more than 27,500 non-perishable items – was donated to the Virginia Peninsula Foodbank.
